Dolan Trial Witness Held in Bail

Joseph T. Butler of Winthrop was revealed in Suffolk superior court today as a witness in connection with the contempt cases of former City Treasurer Edmund L. Dolan and six others.

District Attorney William J. Foley appeared before Judge Frederick W. Fosdick and said Butler was the witness his office had contacted in New Hampshire in connection with the Dolan case. Butler was ordered held in $1000 as a material witness pending opening of the hearings on May 17.

Butler's importance as a witness was stressed before the court by the district attorney's office.

Dolan, J. Walter Quinn, Harold Simpson, former Representative Robert Dinwiddie and three unnamed "John Does" were listed in contempt petitions rising out of alleged attempts to "fix" prospective jurors.

The contempt petitions were filed on the eve of the scheduled trial of Dolan, Quinn and Edward J. Supple in connection with alleged illegal bond transactions between the city and the Legal Securities Corporation, the company allegedly formed by Dolan while he was city treasurer. Supple is not connected with the contempt action.

According to the wire, President Roosevelt will attend no other functions during his visit.

Governor Hurley's plan for an investigation of gift jobs by a special committee of his own appointment exploded right in his face today.

First—Frank A. Bayrd, Republican member of the governor's own committee named to probe "gift jobs" of his predecessors, was discovered to be on the high seas, en route to Europe, not to be back for two months.

Second—William H. Doyle, Hurley-appointed state director of personnel, another of those named to the governor's committee, told a Boston Evening American reporter:

"Yes, I guess I'm a member of the committee. I'm a state employee, and if the governor says I

'Black Fleet' Nears N.E.! Army Masses Air Forces To Repel Enemy Attack

In a final tightening of mobilized defense units, Major-General Frank M. Andrews, commanding Northeastern defenses in this week's start of the war game, began today a flying tour of New England airdromes.

Accompanying him from GHQ at Mitchel Field, L. I., is Captain E. P. Mechling, chief ordnance officer.

Visits and inspections of equipment, munitions and personnel are being made at Springfield, Hartford, New Haven and Schenectady, N. Y.

The two officers from the Long Island general headquarters will return to their base in time for opening of the Northeastern defense from the air at midnight tomorrow.

BLACK FLEET COMING!

Meanwhile, out of the fog-blanketed Atlantic, a powerful "Black" fleet, a coalition of European and Asiatic invaders, was theoretically moving toward American shores.

Where this fleet—to be repulsed by America's massed "war birds"—would strike none of the fliers will know until the word is flashed from GHQ on Long Island, where the secret war game orders are opened.

The defense of the Northeast area, from the Canadian border south to Washington and west to Pittsburgh, will start from the air.

The area embraces all six New England states, New York, New Jersey and parts of Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland, a territory in which are located key industrial plants for supplying the Army, Navy and Marine Corps with planes and engines.

WESTFIELD HUB'S HOPE

The war games will extend through next Tuesday, with Sunday excepted, and with Westfield the nearest airport to Boston where a defense contingent of planes and personnel is stationed.

Lieutenant-Colonel Russell L. Maxwell, GHQ ordnance officer on General Andrews' staff, said today that in addition to the 200 planes employed, unprecedented quantities of ordnance will be utilized.

Eight of the new American "flying fortresses," with a speed of above 200 miles an hour and carrying a staggering amount of bombs, will fly out to sea, their fuselages and wings pockmarked with machine gun nests, and attempt to sink the invading fleet far off the coast.

Open Secret Probe Of Foreign Spy Ring

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP)—In strict secrecy, the federal government moved today to ferret out allegedly widespread ramifications of a foreign spy ring accused of stealing United States army secrets.

The investigation, coming on the eve of big-scale air maneuvers, was disclosed today by U. S. Attorney Lamar Hardy. He said witnesses would be called before the federal grand jury this week.

Four persons are now in custody, Johanna Hofmann, 26, a German citizen, employed as a hairdresser on a German liner; Guenther G. Rumrich, 32, a deserter from the U. S. Army, and two others.

The four were seized by federal agents last February.

14 Big Holding Groups Offer To Cooperate

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP)—Co-operation between big business in the utility field and the government was announced today by executives of 14 of the country's largest public utility holding companies.

A letter to W. O. Douglas, chairman of the Securities Exchange Commission, indicating their intention to cooperate, was made public here today.

The fourteen companies have created a committee of five to sit down amicably with the commission in Washington to work out programs for compliance with the "death sentence" clause of the Public Utility Act of 1935.

Subsection "B" of this clause provides that a holding company's scope must be restricted to a single integrated system and to such other operations only as are allied with the major business.

Subsection "E" authorizes a holding company, beginning last January 1, to submit voluntarily to the SEC A plan of compliance.

The "constructive" purpose of the present committee is to work out such a plan with the SEC, under conditions of mutual co-operation.

Fifteen Americans, including Vice-Consul Leland C. Altshoff and missionaries of the Reformed and Seventh Day Adventist churches, were known to be there.

The occupation was preceded by a terrific bombardment of the native quarter by 12 Japanese war vessels, including at least one battleship.

Coincident with the bombardment, Japanese war planes roared over the native district. The International Settlement on Kulang Shu, which is self-governing, apparently was not attacked but the foreign residents were advised to evacuate.

When news of the attack on Amoy reached here, the British destroyer Diana was rushed to the Firing a 13-gun salute and greeted by a similar salute in return, the French sloop-of-war Ville d'Ys arrived today at the Boston Navy Yard for a 10-day visit. The vessel has been on the international patrol in the North Atlantic.

With her 12 officers, Captain J. E. M. Pont commanding, and 109 men, she will remain at the navy yard until May 21.

Lieutenant Roy E. Williams, aide to the First Naval District commandant, extended greetings of Rear Admiral Walter R. Gherardi. Later the admiral will be visited at his offices by Captain Pont and will return the visit.

Tomorrow the French officers will call on Mayor Tobin and Governor Hurley.

Hitler Greeted In Homeland

EN ROUTE TO BERLIN WITH HITLER'S SPECIAL TRAIN. May 10 (INS)—Bolstered by the "intimate understanding" between Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy, Chancellor Hitler returned to his "Greater Reich" today after a week spent in strengthening the Rome-Berlin axis.

At the frontier station, outpost of his new domain, Der Fuehrer was given a rousing welcome by Dr. Arthur Seyss-Inquart, Austrian governor, and other Nazi leaders.

One shadow, however, remained to mar Der Fuehrer's visit. This was the unbending attitude of the Holy See, brought to the fore once more by an editorial in the Catholic newspaper L'Avenir, which said it had hoped Hitler's visit might bring "clarification of the struggle between state and church in Germany."

The paper tartly added: "The war of the state against the church in Germany in all probability will have other dark stages."

Spend-Lend Jobs for 4,135,000

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—The Administration's $3,054,425,000 spending-lending bill will provide jobs for 4,135,000 persons, the House appropriations committee estimated today.

For comparison, emergency employment under federal programs totaled 3,124,919 on April 30.

The committee included the $4-135,000 figure in a report recommending enactment of the bill, submitted shortly before the House began debate on the measure today.

The primary purpose of the legislation, the report said, is to furnish speedy "direct employment on the site and indirect employment away from the site of work, for some of the many millions who are unemployed and destitute or harassed by the speculators that haunt the doorstep of that too large unfortunate group."

The committee conceded there might be disappointments because of its failure to set aside specific sums for particular projects, or types of work, in definite areas.

AGAINST EARMARKING

It said, however, that it felt the "earmarking of the funds with reference to individual projects, localities, groups or otherwise would bog down the program and defeat the primary end and aim of the entire proposal."

Breaking down the job total, the report said an average of 2,800,000 would be employed by the Works Progress Administration for the seven months ending next January 31; 1,600,000 by the Public Works Administration for the period of its two-year program; 275,000 by the National Youth Administration in the 1938 fiscal year, and 60,000 on Federal public buildings.

ADDITIONAL JOBS

In addition to the 4,135,000 total, the committee said appropriations already approved for the CCC would provide employment for 300,000 individuals in the next fiscal year, while 500,000 more people would obtain work on general public works carried on under regular appropriations to the various government departments.

House passage of the big lending and spending measure became the immediate goal of administration leaders, intent on adjournment by mid-June. They predicted little opposition outside Republican ranks.

Battle to Save Other Eye; Baby Cries for Food

CHICAGO, May 10—As Baby Helaine Colan, one eye gone, slept peacefully, a supreme court of medicine today struggled with another momentous decision—whether the remaining eye should be removed, leaving the five-weeks-old infant totally blind.

Days of terrific mental conflict on the part of the baby's parents ended yesterday when the left eye was removed to stave off certain death from the ravages of cancerous tumor.

Today eminent scientists studied the blind eye in an effort to gather data which might permit them to save the other. This jury of specialists was to decide whether to operate or attempt to cure the dread infection.

The baby itself stirred new hope for the doctors when she awoke at 9:30 a. m., with lusty cries of hunger.

HUNGER GOOD SIGN

Dr. Robert H. Good, who performed the delicate operation yesterday, said the infant's hunger was "a very good sign." Helaine was given a specially prepared formula and was to be fed regularly on a four-hour schedule.

Dr. Good, saying the child had spent a restful night, issued the following bulletin on her condition:

"Temperature 99.4. Pulse 164. Respiration 48. Baby slept well."

He explained that this condition was "as normal as could be expected" after the ordeal of the operation.

Then Dr. Good turned to study, with the other scientists laboratory reports on the eye which had been removed.

The 5½-week-old infant spent a "comfortable night," and was reported rallying today after the surgical operation which a council of ten medical experts decreed as the only recourse against death from glioma of the retina.

They were asked to make a decision when Helaine's parents were unable to decide whether she should undergo an operation and risk total blindness or to be allowed to die.

The cancerous growth had destroyed the vision in the left eye and has impaired that in the right. Medical experts said the disease would be fatal if it reached the brain through the optic nerve.

Dr. Robert H. Good, who performed the operation, said the baby reacted favorably, experienced no pain and lost less than a half a teaspoon of blood.

He reported the eyeball was con-

Doctor's Wife Still Battling for Life

MRS. MARIE R. LEGG

Burned in a terrific gas blast in her Commonwealth avenue, Brighton, home, Mrs. Marie R. Legg, 45, wife of Dr. Arthur T. Legg, noted infantile paralysis scientist, hovered today between life and death at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

The explosion was caused by the lighted pilot of the gas stove.

Police said doors and windows of the apartment had been sealed with tape, while gas jets of the stove stood open.

Mrs. Legg was found, still conscious, in the kitchen after the apartment superintendent forced a window. A note, unsigned and scrawled on a scrap of paper, was found in Mrs. Legg's pocketbook in the living room. It read:

"Dearest—Whatever happens, just know that I appreciate your wonderful kindness. The greatest mistake of my life was to ruin your life, because I have never wanted to live."

"I have always loved you from the beginning, and still do, though it may be hard to believe."

"The $120 is for the fur coat for — for a wedding present, though it won't cover it. Be sure and take enough to make up the difference."

"Good-by, dear. I wish I could say something more, but I am past thinking."

Death Strikes Baby, Doctors Save Another

Death struck mysteriously at one baby today while a second was escaping a menace that had hung over him for five months.

After doctors worked over her for more than two hours, nine-weeks-old Patricia Ann Hardy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Hardy, River street, Braintree, died in South Weymouth Hospital of a mysterious ailment.

No foreign obstruction was found in her throat, doctors said, and neither had she been suffocated by bed clothing. Her death was described as a singular contraction of the throat muscles that shut off the lot's breathing.

At Boston City Hospital it was revealed that an open safety pin had been lodged for five months in the throat of 10-months-old Alan Cook of Child street, Hyde Park. The child developed a cough and an X-ray disclosed the pin which was removed.

Ex-Nurse and Man Deny Baby Death Conspiracy

Miss Margaret Claffie, 26, of Mountfort street, Back Bay, former hospital nurse, pleaded not guilty today in Middlesex superior court to indictment charges of concealing and conspiracy to conceal the death of an infant.

Harry Markus, 50, of Forsyth street, Back Bay, pleaded not guilty to the conspiracy charge.

They were held in $1000 each for trial, and then they left for Lowell, where it was expected murder charges against them in district court would be dismissed.

The charges grow out of discovery of the body of an infant, allegedly born to the former nurse and buried in the cellar of a Bilmerica house four years ago.

Arms, Legs for Charlie; He Sneers at Stand-In HOLLYWOOD, May 10 (AP)—Charlie McCarthy, the pinewood prodigy, walked like a man today. Edgar Bergen's little dummy has been furnished with pliable legs and arms which move whenever Bergen wishes—just like Charlie's jaw.

As Charlie tells it, the operation was a harrowing one, taking place in the carpenter shop at Universal studio where he is swapping calumnious retorts with Adolphe Menjou in a movie.

Universal officials had insisted Charlie needed realistic limbs. He should get off Bergen's knee and stand on his own feet, they argued. "Some one around here needs a head worse than I need a leg, but I'm not mentioning any names," said Charlie.

It took a week or so to equip the red-headed mouthpiece with his new manual and pedal extremities.

EDGE OVER STAND-IN

Bergen acted like an anxious father.

"There is nothing wrong with Charlie that a crosscut bath won't cure," he said.

The new McCarthy is expected to be even more snippy than usual toward his stand-in dummy, sturdy Oak O'Sullivan.

House Afire, Baby's Cries Give Alarm

Cries of nine-weeks-old James Healey awakened his parents, Policeman and Mrs. Louis Healey, in their home on Dearborn street, Medford, early today.

They found their apartment filled with smoke. Healey ran upstairs and aroused Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Shear and their four children, all of whom fled to the street in nightclothing.

Firemen estimated damage at $1200. Fire was due to spontaneous combustion, they said.

The Shears' children are Bert, Jerry, Sidney and Howard. Shear, who occupies the upper floor apartment, is the owner of the building.

British Mine Blast Kills 72; 49 Injured

DUCKMANTON, England, May 10 (AP)—Seventy-two miners were killed, 49 were known to be injured and a number of others entombed in the wrecked workings today after two violent gas explosions in the Markham coal mine.

While rescue squads searched underground for trapped victims, Captain H. F. S. Crookshank, minister for mines, informed the House of Commons of the disaster.

Through grim coincidence, the question of danger from explosions in mines was up before Commons as a result of Ellis Smith, Laborite, asking what was being done to prevent repetition of such blasts as the one last July at the Brymbo coal mine at Stoke-on-Trent, when 27 miners lost their lives.

Sobbing women gathered around the pithead as the dead and injured were brought to the surface.

One woman found that four members of her family were in the blasted workings, their fate undetermined.

Mississippi On Rampage

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 10 (INS)—Following the heaviest rainfall here in 22 years, the Mississippi river went on a rampage, flooding farm lands and causing crop damages estimated at more than a million dollars.

A survey of the upper reaches of the river reported that at one place the river was seven miles wide. At another point, where it ordinarily flows as an eight-foot creek, the water spread for three miles.

National guardsmen were mobilized quickly to evacuate any farmers isolated by the flood waters.

Wants Shirley Gut Back for Safety

A letter from Representative Daniel J. Honan of Winthrop, demanding that Shirley Gut be restored before any steps are taken to convert Deer Island into a state prison housing dangerous criminals, was in the hands of Governor Hurley today.

Honan said Winthrop residents would offer little opposition to the plan if the Gut, filled in by storms and tides, is dredged out to form a natural barrier in any attempted escapes.

Dies Resolve To Probe Nazis Approved

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—The House rules committee approved a resolution by Representative Dies (D.) of Texas today for a congressional investigation of "un-American propaganda activities in the United States."

Chairman Dickstein (D.) of New York of the immigration committee, said the inquiry, which would be conducted by seven House members, was necessary to prevent "riots and bloodshed."

"There is going to be another riot next week," he said. "They are going to have a parade of 100,000 Nazis opening up Camp Seagriff, Long Island."

"A group of Legionnaires came to me yesterday and said they were ready to take the law in their own hands because they say these Nazis can't goose step and 'Heil, Hitler,' and carry on with swastikas."

Communism is not so dangerous as Fascism and Nazism at this point, Dickstein added, because the Communist party has only 22,000 members and the Bund has 400,000, including youths.

"Suppose I tell you," Dickstein asserted, "that 20 big industries in this country have contributed money to the Nazi cause because they have interests in Germany. It runs into six figures. One gave $20,000."

Simpson Doom Due to Strike

Edward P. Simpson, condemned slayer of two Newton policemen, will die later this week in the electric chair at Charlestown unless a further respite is granted—and that possibility is slim.

Several weeks ago a respite was granted Simpson while his appeal in Supreme Court was pending in Washington. The appeal was denied and the respite ends tomorrow at midnight.

China Envoy Asks League Aid in War

GENEVA, May 10 (AP)—Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, Chinese delegate to the League of Nations, today asked the League Council to apply provisions of the covenant in giving China aid against Japan.

He cited two resolutions, one by the League assembly last October and another by the council in February, which recommended that League members consider individual aid to China.

"With one exception," he said, none of the League members had come to China's aid. He did not name the country which had supplied the help, but it was believed he referred to Soviet Russia.

"China expects to receive from other members of the League material aid and effective co-operation in restraining the forces of aggression," he declared.

"Such aid and co-operation is more urgent because it will hasten the termination of hostilities and insure the defeat of the forces of disorder and violence."

"By such action, Japanese aggression with all its horrors and cruelty may effectively be brought to an early end and the principles of the League fully vindicated."

Ethiopian delegates fighting against recognition of the Italian conquest of their land won a temporary success by obtaining postponement until tomorrow at earliest of the council's consideration of recognition.

Solons Offer Blood for Boy

Several members of the House of Representatives offered their blood today in hope of saving the life of John Troy, 7, son of Representative John E. Troy, Jr., of Dorchester, who is critically ill at City Hospital.

Several days ago the boy fell from a four-foot wall near his home on Center street, Dorchester. He has a possible fracture of the skull and internal injuries.

Responding to the call for a transfusion were Representatives Chester A. Dolan, Jr., of Jamaica Plain, Daniel P. McGillicuddy of Back Bay, Enrico Cappelletti of East Boston and Lawrence H. Davis of Everett.

May Get Wage Bill Next Week

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—A switch of two Republican members of the rules committee may bring the controversial wage-hour bill before the House early next week.

Representatives Mapes (R.) Michigan, and McLean (R.) New York, who previously had helped block the legislation, said they were willing to let the House vote in advance of May 22, the date on which a petition would force the bill to the floor.

"People want Congress to adjourn," said Mapes. "A majority of the House has clearly indicated that it wants to vote on the bill. There is nothing to be gained in delay."

President Asks Cash for G-Men

WASHINGTON, May 10 (INS)—President Roosevelt acted today to save the nation's G-men from serious curtailment in their war on crime.

In a supplementary budget estimate dispatched to Congress, he asked an emergency appropriation of $108,000 which would end furloughs affecting half of the force of nearly 600 G-men.

The President's request was accompanied by a letter from Acting Budget Director Daniel W. Bell which gave unexpected expenditure in major kidnapping cases as the reason for the shortage in funds for the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Jury to Weigh Curley Charges Against Graves

Charges of perjury, made by former Governor Curley against Frederick H. Graves, recent "key witness" in the city's suit against Curley, will be presented to the Suffolk County grand jury.

This was announced today by District Attorney William J. Foley, following a conference of nearly an hour at which he, Curley; Attorney Wendell P. Murray, the Curley counsel, and Assistant District Attorney Frederick T. Doyle were present.

In a statement issued by the Suffolk prosecutor, he said:

"Some weeks ago, Wendell P. Murray, representing former Governor Curley, requested permission to present the matter to the grand jury. Under our established practice, all such matters are referred to the lower court.

"Mr. Murray, recognizing the fairness of the procedure, applied in the lower court for a complaint.

"After some time, the court neither granted nor refused to issue a warrant, but suggested that the petitioner apply to the district attorney or to the grand jury.

"Unless the matter is referred to the grand jury, he can have no day in court.

Roosevelt 'Plot' Hoax Says G-Man

WASHINGTON, May 10 (INS)—Investigation by the secret service of the reported bizarre plot of two and a half years ago to kidnap President Roosevelt was related today in a copyrighted story in the Washington Herald.

According to the story, two men plotted to kidnap the President, take him aboard a dynamite-laden boat on the Potomac river and, if ransom demands were refused, blow up the boat.

According to the story, the alleged plot was revealed following the arrest of Robert Kennedy, 46, manager of a roadhouse a few miles from Washington. Kennedy is held on technical charges of investigation on complaints of check forgery.

Hurley Probe Of Gift Jobs Blows Up

must serve, I guess I must serve—but what he wanted to pick me for, I don't know.

"First I knew it was this morning when my wife read it to me out of a newspaper."

Members of the joint legislative committee now investigating alleged Hurley political appointments in the state Unemployment Compensation Commission charged openly that the Governor's creation of a committee of his own is for the purpose, merely, of discrediting the Legislature's inquiry and confusing the public.

"With Bayrd, the Republican member, away, a fine 'non-partisan' committee that leaves," Representative Philip G. Bowker, Republican, of Brookline, a member of the joint legislative investigating committee already inquiring into gift jobs in the Unemployment Compensation Commission under Hurley's regime, declared.

The two remaining members, both Democrats, of the governor's "special" committee are Patrick J. Moynihan, chairman of the state commission on administration and finance, and William H. Doyle, state director of personnel, both Hurley appointees.

Simultaneously with all this "firework" began exploding in another direction—in connection with the scheduled examinations for police captains in the Boston police department.

The examinations, scheduled for June 4, are to be on a non-competitive basis.

All that will be necessary will be for a lieutenant taking the examination to achieve a passing grade of 70.

Then all those who "passed" will be lumped together, irrespective of their marks, and the police commissioner can choose any of them he chooses.

Bayrd, who is a member of the three-man Civil Service Commission, voted against this when the matter came up before the commission, it was recalled today.

CITES HURLEY PLEDGE

His vote was overridden, however, by those of the two remaining members of the commission, who are Democrats.

Bayrd urged, in vain, that the examinations be held on a strictly competitive basis—the basis, he pointed out, that Governor Hurley himself, in his campaign speeches, his platform and his inaugural address, promised would be the rule.

Cash Asked for R. I. Torpedo Station

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—Representative Forand (D.) of Rhode Island urged the House naval affairs committee today to approve expenditure of $4,500,000 to improve and expand the Newport, R. I., torpedo station.

K. of C. Urged To Help Fight Vile Literature

NEW BEDFORD, May 10 (AP)

Two church dignitaries today urged the Knights of Columbus to join the church in fighting what they termed the spread of salacious literature which they declared corrupted the morals of young and old. The appeal was made by the Most Rev. James E. Cassidy, Bishop of the Fall River diocese, and the Rev. Felix S. Childs, in the course of a solemn high mass at St. Lawrence's church which marked the opening of the K. of C. state convention.

Bishop Cassidy declared "the matter of the wide distribution of salacious literature" was a subject for serious consideration.

Bishop Cassidy asserted that vile conditions could be created here if there was not some restraint placed upon the growing tendency to rid literature of decency.

Virtually assured of election as state deputy was John J. Spillane, assistant dean of men at Holy Cross College. Retiring as state deputy is Patrick J. Moynihan, state welfare commissioner.

Small Drop In Steel Rate Is Forecast

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW
Financial Editor

The steel industry probably will not have a major problem at present. Most indications and reviews from the steel companies point to the fact that demand for steel is not likely to be as strong as it was in the latter part of 1937. At the same time, steel prices show signs of being lower than they might be expected to be in the near future.

Without attempting to forecast any particular price level, it seems probable that steel prices will be lower than they were in the latter part of 1937.

Today's market was a bit of a letdown for many investors who had expected a continuation of the upward trend seen in Monday's trading. The main reason for the decline was the profit-taking that followed the strong rally of the previous day. However, the market was not as weak as it appeared, and many investors are expected to return to the market in the near future.

UTILITIES TO FIGHT

Any neophyte watching recent tape action knows that a large number of people are expecting major developments in the power and light industry. Vaguely explained as peace between the administration and private interests, nothing is said as to how it will come about. Our advice is to watch the companies in the TVA area. A friendly and liberal settlement of difficulties in all that is needed to change the group's long term outlook.

NOTICE Another decision that will make for a change in the way the power industry is run. The decision is that the power companies will be allowed to set their own rates, but they will be subject to the approval of the Federal Public Utility Commission. This decision is expected to be a major step towards the creation of a new power industry.

ONE OBSTACLE LEFT

There is one important obstacle left for the market to overcome before most observers will definitely turn bullish. It is the 121 level on the Dow Jones Industrial Average. Until it is exceeded on a closing by 101 the current strength of utilities and speculation will not be regarded as sound.

Once through, however, there will be a new record to try. We will be looking for a new high for the Dow Jones Industrial Average. It is difficult to say at this time whether this will be the end of the bull market or the beginning of a new one. The Dow Jones Industrial Average is now at 121.00.

Haney Regards Pump-Priming Plan as Futile

By LEWIS HANEY
Professor of Economics, New York University

NEW YORK, May 10. The past week has brought the first real change in the economic picture. The economy has been in a state of stagnation for some time, and the government's plan to stimulate it has been regarded as futile.

The government's plan to stimulate the economy by increasing the money supply and lowering interest rates has been regarded as futile.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

See Who's Pleased!

The Editor Says: Nothing will hearten the criminal and racketeering elements of America more than to hear that because of lack of ready funds the Federal Bureau of Investigation will be compelled to reduce its force of G-men and dismiss scores of fingerprint classifiers and accountants.

It is actually public notice to kidnapers, robbers, extortionists and blackmailers that after June 1 their efforts will be twice as easy because there will be only half as many efficient investigators to trail and imprison them.

J. Edgar Hoover's department, at a cost of only $6,000,000 a year, has solved 119 out of 122 kidnappings.

It has returned to the Government $41,000,000 in fines and recovered stolen property.

It has MADE A PROFIT OF THIRTY-FIVE MILLION DOLLARS for the people, in addition to giving the country the protection of an honest and capable bureau of crime detection—a rare and almost unique service in these topsy-turvy days.

LET CONGRESS WAKE UP AND FACE THESE FACTS! And, facing them, let Congress provide ADEQUATE MONEY for the G-men to carry on their good work.

PAGE DIOGENES! The ghost of the ancient sage need haunt the earth no more. Honesty has been found—in Cambridge and without a lantern!

The man who might have caused old Diogenes to become less a Doubting Thomas and more a believer in the good of mankind is Francis Tinsire, 35-year-old painter.

Walking a few days ago along Alewife Brook Parkway, Mr. Tinsire saw something at his feet, stooped down, looked and gasped. There, staring at him, was the largest assortment of unchaperoned greenbacks ever to make his acquaintance. Five hundred dollars—by actual count!

It matters little what others would have done. What this man did do is the more important. He picked up the bulging wallet, hastened to the nearest police station, gave it to the officer in charge.

Soon the owner was found and it goes without saying everybody was made happy.

However, this our suspicion no one was happier than the finder. His was the satisfaction of having done the right thing, of having received a harsh test and passing with flying colors.

Words properly to describe that feeling haven't been invented.

WE DON'T WANT IT! So declared twenty-four of the twenty-seven jurors to whom Superior Court Judge Edward T. Broadhurst addressed this interesting question: "If you had a case in court would you elect trial before a jury?"

Apparently these men are disillusioned by the bickering that so frequently precedes the reaching of a decision by a jury. Each probably remembers that he could have rendered speedier and more efficient judgment had he not been hampered by eleven other men also sitting in judgment.

Not that these men would risk the bickering and continue to place their faith in juries. Two heads seem better than one. And twelve heads seem even better.

The Political Parade

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, MAY 10
THE regimented farmer is on his dangerous way out of the American economic and political scene.

He has hit the bloodstained trail left by the lacerated feet of the late lamented Blue Eagle as that New Deal bird of ill omen hobbled into oblivion a bare jump ahead of the Supreme Court.

Among all false prophets of planned economy Henry Wallace, the dreamy-eyed mystic from Iowa, stands today at the head of the list of the discredited.

The embattled farmers are not waiting for the Supreme Court to throw farm regimentation into the discard of the unconstitutional. They are pronouncing their own judgment upon it, outside the field of litigation.

SOME STATES have escaped the agrarian revolt against the most outrageous bureaucratic dictatorship that has been set up in Washington thus far, but it has now become practically nationwide in scope.

It isn't organized by the politicians. It has caught the New Deal politicians napping, and has surprised them.

The new A. A. A. law, already several times altered since its recent enactment, had a few more amendments added to it in the Senate last week in the way of loosening quota restrictions.

These came too late to save the Southern cotton farmers from ruin, because the Southern cotton crop is already planted. They weren't designed in good faith to save the farmers.

They were designed to save the faces of the politicians in Washington who know THEMSELVES TO BE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE MOST UN-AMERICAN STATUTE EVER ENACTED IN THIS COUNTRY—and we have seen quite a lot of 'em during the last five years!

THE NEW A. A. A. is following the cycle of the old N. R. A. Its breakdown is complete.

It is reducing acreage below the point of a living wage and throwing more destitute on relief. If the result embraced but a single crop it would be serious enough to mar the enjoyment of anybody a fishing trip, but it now embraces cotton, tobacco, corn, and wheat.

What acreage this year amounts to is 30,000,000 acres, of 17,500,000 acres over the national goal.

What the wheat farmers are subjected to regimentation it won't be a revolt; it will be a rebellion.

Mass meetings of protest against regimentation in cotton and tobacco are being held all over North Carolina where the farmers have employed Judge James S. Manning to resist the new farm law.

When Southern farmers hire lawyers to fight the New Deal, that's news.

Baering Down On the News

The French franc is now about three cents a yard.

If it gets any cheaper they will be sewing buttons on each other.

Looks now as if the A. E. F. had a pretty good idea of European finances when it spent its tobacco coupons in France.

The franc is now 36 to the dollar and the dollar is fading like calico in August.

The French farmer no longer goes through the arduous work of burying his money in the ground. It doesn't pay for his labor.

What of Today, Tomorrow?

Harvard Dean Deplores Scarcity of Jobs

Optimism prevails at Boston College as its Class of 1933 prepares for job hunting and the life ahead.

But at Harvard, where in the years gone possession of a sheepskin was open sesame to a choice position . . .

Today, Harvard speaks of Tomorrow, though not in a tenor too confident.

By PAUL WHELTON

Boston Evening American Staff Writer

When Harvard University's 1933 Commencement is done, when the caps and gowns have been folded and put away in the cedar chips and when the still hush of sleepy summer envelops Cantabrigia's classic halls—then will the majority of Harvard's new graduates enter the ranks of the unemployed.

"Where they will all find positions, I do not know," said Professor G. F. Plimpton, associate dean of alumni placement.

"There has been a considerable drop in the number of employers who customarily hire even one or two boys," it was said at the Alumni Placement Bureau.

Within a few short weeks, approximately 750 young men will receive degrees from Harvard University, 750 more men ushered into the world to compete with thousands of other new sheepskin holders throughout the land.

AND THIS YEAR, AS NEVER BEFORE, IT WILL BE THE SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST!

"The prospect for employment of Harvard graduates of this year's class is far worse than it was last year," said Professor Plimpton.

"Some of them, after receiving their degrees, will go on to professional schools or to graduate study. The majority will go out into the world to try and earn a living.

"A certain number will be placed in jobs with friends or relatives, naturally.

"BUT THE MAJORITY WILL ENTER THE RANKS OF THE UNEMPLOYED.

"A few years ago the possession of a Harvard sheepskin was open sesame to any number of positions. The prestige of the college made it a foregone conclusion that graduates would be an asset to any company with which they became associated.

"In past years almost any graduate with a bent toward salesmanship could walk into a bond house and earn a good living selling bonds. BUT CONDITIONS HAVE CHANGED.

"The fact that Harvard men will find the doors of industry closed to them this year emphasizes the seriousness of the situation which all college men are facing.

"I THINK THAT TODAY MANY OF THEM GO INTO ANY JOB THAT WILL GIVE THEM A START IN EARNING THEIR WAY. I BELIEVE THAT A MAN SHOULD BE WILLING TO TAKE WHAT OFFERS, SO LONG AS HE DOES NOT LOSE SIGHT OF HIS REAL OBJECTIVES AND CEASE STRIVING TOWARD THEM.

"Changing times have altered the vocation picture for Harvard men as for all college graduates.

"In other times, one associated with the professions and the world of finance. Today there are a great many fields which attract them.

"Careers in the government service have opened up, and during the past few years many students have gone to Washington.

"Merchandising and advertising attract graduates of the college as well as of the Harvard Business School."

Another spokesman for the Alumni Placement Bureau, which Dean Plimpton, a former Buffalo, N. Y., lawyer heads, said that the bureau is doing all in its power to find jobs for graduates against difficulties.

"We have many firms which contact the bureau each year for young men, and we hope to find work for all the graduates eventually," he said.

"HOWEVER, LARGE CORPORATIONS UPON WHICH WE COULD DEPEND TO ABSORB 20 OR 30 MEN OUT OF A CLASS HAVE NOT FOUND IT POSSIBLE TO DO SO. THERE HAS BEEN A CONSIDERABLE DROP IN THE NUMBER OF EMPLOYERS WHO CUSTOMARILY HIRE EVEN ONE OR TWO BOYS.

"It is possible that this is merely a postponement and that with some improvement in business conditions these jobs will be made available before summer.

"The government positions are scarcer this year. That is due to the fact that most of the available posts have been filled and few vacancies have occurred."

Dean Plimpton said he would not discourage students from entering the professions, although he agreed that they are overcrowded.

"A REALLY GOOD LAWYER OR DOCTOR," HE SAID, "WILL EVENTUALLY BE SUCCESSFUL. THE STANDARD OF THE PROFESSION IS KEPT AT A HIGH LEVEL, LARGELY THROUGH THE COMPETITION OF YOUNG, FORWARD-LOOKING MEN."

Harvard officials, ESPECIALLY SINCE THE ADVENT OF PRESIDENT JAMES BRYANT CONANT, have devoted much effort toward solution of the unemployment problems of the alumni.

The students are given a pamphlet, issued by the bureau, which outlines the functions and gives information and guidance to men looking for jobs.

In addition to outlining the various types of occupations open to college students, the pamphlet gives tips to students along these lines.

In hiring college graduates the business man looks for intelligence, health and personality. He seeks men who have acquired skill in human relations; who have conviction, the power of decision and other qualities of leadership.

"The student should ask himself: 'WHAT IS THE LEVEL OF MY INTELLIGENCE? WHAT TALENTS OF SPECIAL ABILITY DO I POSSESS?' What are my interests, my LIKES and DISLIKES? What are my personal assets and liabilities? before deciding upon which kind of job to pursue."

But even with all this organized effort, Dean Plimpton is grave about the outlook. Graduates of Harvard no longer can be looked upon as a privileged class.

"THEY NEED JOBS JUST AS DESPERATELY AS THE REST OF THE OUT-OF-WORK.

Tomorrow, the Boston Evening American will present the third of a series of interviews with New England college officials.

MADISON Ct., May 10 (AP)—A $25,000 allegation of affections suit against Mrs. Charlotte Milburn Pickering Chaseborough, brought by Mrs. John R. Wright, whose husband is awaiting superior court trial on a charge of assault with intent to kill, was revealed today with the filing of a certificate of attachment in the town clerk's office.

According to the certificate, which attests the entry by Mrs. Chaseborough, New York heiress and Madison resident, in the state of her grandmother the $25,000 suit by Mrs. Wright "for the destruction of the happiness of her home."

Wright, 41-year-old war veteran, was arrested by police on Friday morning after a chase through woods and over Long Island Sound.

Mrs. Chaseborough, identified herself to reporters as the woman who accompanied Wright on a cruise about the Sound.

Mrs. Chaseborough and she and Wright were seen together.

Boston After Dark

By GEORGE HOLLAND

HE CAN "TAKE" IT. Can our personable attorney general, Paul Dever, and, as the boys say, he can also "hand it out" . . . Translated, this adds up to a tribute to Paul's sportsmanship and good sense in dealing with the press . . . At the entertaining Night Sports Final jubilee at the Mayfair last night, Paul was in his best faking fettle and strictly "on the rib" . . . Dave Wilson came in for a bit of spanking from the state's chief prosecutor, and this department wasn't neglected either.

George Holland

Paul told his "in person" audience and the host of individuals sometimes referred to as "the great unsexed audience of the air," that he reads "George Holland's column to learn what office he plans to run for in September" . . . If not a literal transcript of the attorney general's words, then it comes fairly close . . . And for that my friend Paul must thank . . . Consider this a note of thanks, and some information about what your Chief, Governor Hurley, plans to do in June, which isn't as far distant as September.

To you, General Dever, and to other interested Democrats, these next few lines will prove somewhat startling . . . To your correspondent, the oversigned, it is with deep regret that duty demands this first item to be printed.

It concerns Commissioner William E. Weeks of the Alcoholic Beverage Commission, a Curley appointee of the Republican persuasion . . . "Billy" Weeks is to be replaced as commissioner of the ABC by Executive Councilor Frank R. Brooks, also a Republican, and a veteran in state politics who was supposed to have a chance at the parole board chairmanship now held by Ralph W. Robert . . . Both Commissioners Weeks and Councilor Brooks have claims to widespread popularity, and it was thought for a time that Commissioner Weeks, really a grand fellow, would have a chance to retain his job.

One Republican for Another:

The next item is startling, too, and may be safely labeled "surprise, surprise!" . . . It concerns two other prominent Republicans . . . Chairman David I. Munroe of the Boston Licensing Board—a city department controlled by the governor—is to go . . . His successor is Commissioner of Public Works Edward M. Richardson, who was not scheduled to survive under the Tobin administration for more than another month or two . . . Your every knows the name of Commissioner Richardson's possible successor to the important city post he has held in long, but it's one of those "off the record" things which, at this time, must not be mentioned.

It is true, of course, that the news of these changes is not yet official. But it is true, of course, that the news of these changes is not yet official.

About Paul, Himself:

There's nothing just of politics, and nothing just of the day's developments, are so surprising and so new as to find this writing, that the Attorney General's column is a bit of a surprise. The column's custom of making predictions is a bit of a surprise.

So thanks for the memory, Paul . . . And for those of the citizenry who may have missed the announcement in this space as of date Monday, April 25, Attorney General Dever is going to run again for attorney general.

Incidentally, at no time has your correspondent deviated from his original propensity that the so-called "Timothy bill," which will make the police commissioner a seven-year post, will call for removal by a board of three Supreme Court judges . . . This is the form that Governor Hurley seeks in a legislative amendment.

Once Over Lightly:

When Mae West was asked upon the interview by Austen Lake at the Night Club Dinner "What's your name?" . . . Here's a fellow who can really talk. "Gee, I wish I could," she said. "I wish I could," she said. "I wish I could," she said.

They are doing the latest Housing Project in South Boston in the "Yucca Apartments" because of the something new in housing is called "bellows" . . . The stockings have different colored heels and are supposed to make policy gains look better. Peggy Davis who is based on what nature gave her without embellishing, is putting the final piece your observer has sighted.

Iga Ray Hulton grows lovelier with the years . . . A veteran of four years of band-leading, the Blonde Bombshell of Rhythm, must be all of 21 by now . . . Her hand at the Mayfair is the best aggregation which has ever responded to her baton . . . The Ritz Roof opening happens tonight with Dick Casperson and a rumba band sharing the work—and wealth . . . Mae West's generosity totaled $1500 interpreted in gifts to the staff of the Ritz.

Hurley, Kelly and Buckley all on the same radio . . . in the interesting lineup for that Norfolk County Democratic League meeting at Canton Thursday night . . . It was Kelly, Buckley and Dever talking things over in the governor's absence at the Night Sports Final dinner . . . When Jack Conmay threw questions in an informal interview for the microphone, he really gets to the one of things in a hurry . . . Not that Ann Masters, Austen Lake or Jon Cashman bring their reputations as good sporters . . . But "Mr. Boston," on a casual and bland way, make the boys speak up on questions they might like to ask.

Premiere at Shubert Attracts Many

ONCE AGAIN the enthusiasts who buy theater tickets in Boston had to take their medicine from a group of left-wingish performers. . . but this time the pill is sugar coated and easy to take. . . First nighters who attended the opening of "Tins and Needles" at the Shubert last evening thoroughly enjoyed the sparkling wit and catchy music of this revue which is a product of New York's "Labor Stage". . . Mr. and Mrs. Charles Codman did their bit for the Civil Liberties Committee, which sponsored the opening, by attending and dressing up in their best bibs and tuckers for the occasion. . . Mrs. Codman's scarlet taffeta gown was topped by a dramatic black cape lined with scarlet. . . The Theodore L. Elms were among the dressy first nighters, too. . . Martha sweeping down the aisle in a black and white outfit with a spray of white lilies just above her bangs. . . Mrs. Edward Taft and Mrs. Livingston Davis made it fashionable twosome and Jane Woodhouse and Jane Bancroft, who have both had considerable experience behind the footlights, were there to see for themselves what this much talked about production was all about. . . Mr. and Mrs. George S. Weld, Mrs. John O'Day, Rosamond Newton, Helen Mason and the William Reads were others who added to the social picture.

Following in the footsteps of so many younger socialites Gay Matthews, daughter of Mrs. George W. Matthews of Cambridge, has a job singing in a popular local restaurant. . . Since her repertoire includes practically all German and Tyrolean folk songs her friends teasingly call her "Heidi, the German Nightingale". . . Gay, whose family formerly lived in Dedham, is a sister of Ann Matthews who made her debut at the Dedham Country and Polo Club, and she has three married sisters, Mrs. Howard Wing, Mrs. Stanley Warren and Mrs. Ralph S. Maughan, Jr., of Chicago. . .

Constance Hears Avis' Proposal

CHAPTER 26

Flipping her cigarette to the lawn, Avis took a step back, but the high heel of her green sandal caught in the trim of her dress. Gordon caught her and kissed her.

"Let me go, Gordon! Cheating so soon? You aren't married to her yet! I wouldn't marry you if you were the last man in the world. I'd rather never give you at all than take you and lose you and know you were cheating!"

He let her go and looked after her. But she did not return to the club. Hurrying across the lawn, she went directly to her own private room.

There were no more dinner cups at my table, he thought, and perhaps the best possible of thought was what he could do with a million dollars.

A million and a half. He saw them together in his mind's eye. And he saw the same friends who had made his life in New York. Incredibly, he was alone, alone, alone, and forgetting the past. Once he had said, "You are a woman, but you are not a woman." You are a woman, but you are not a woman. You are a woman, but you are not a woman.

He found Constance sitting on the lawn. She was looking at him. He had never seen her so before. He had never seen her so before.

He had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years.

"The Constance was sitting on the lawn. He had never seen her so before. He had never seen her so before."

"I had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years."

"I had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years."

"I had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years."

"I had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years."

"I had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years."

"I had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years."

"I had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years."

"I had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years. He had been looking at her for years."

AVIS ASKS GORDON to marry her. "You proposed to me at last six times," she said. "But now I'm telling you I'll marry you, and I'll let you use my money."

Constance was sitting on the lawn. He had never seen her so before. He had never seen her so before.

Austen Lake Says

Modern Van Winkle: Old Cy Young Comes Home

THIS IS A STORY OF A MAN WHO dwells in two places simultaneously. It is the tale of old Cy Young. For that part of Old Cy which is corporal has come back again to reside in the little rose-brick hotel where he first lived 38 years ago as one of the original Red Sox. And that of him which is legendary reposes in the little red-brick museum at Cooperstown, N. Y., where baseball's 12 sainted heroes are enrolled in bronze. In the Hall of Fame, dedicated to eternal boyhood, Old Cy ranks fifth. In latter-age life he is unplaced.

Time has spun the old pitcher's fate queerly. For Old Cy has returned to the setting of his junior glory to work in the little tavern where he once dwelt as a National celebrity. The fame he won survives now on the game's archives and the memory of an elder generation. The small fortune he earned has largely vanished. The pleasant wife of his youth is gone. The farm where he spent middle-age is sold. And at 71 Old Cy has returned to salvage the fragments of lost youth and build a bridge across the years.

Thirty-eight years have passed since Old Cy Young was young Cy, lean as the flank of a steer, bold of jaw and thick of wrist. The old Huntington avenue ball park where he first played, a fungo knock away from Putnam's hotel, has gone back to the weeds, its wooden stands tumbled and decayed. His old ballroom fellowship, Lou Criger, Frank LaPorte, Jesse Tannehill, Tom Hughes and the storied names of Boston's primitive baseball day, are one with rosemary and lavender. The winds have blown away the ghostly shouts of forgotten crowds. Where now are Lou and Frank and Jesse and Tom? So Old Cy has returned like a modern Van Winkle to find the old surroundings changed and few who know his face.

General Foyer Factotum

OLD CY'S FIGURE IS STILL STRAIGHT, his stomach flat and his head Romanesque. The mark of the old athlete is still present and the peculiar sitting slouch of the practiced lobby loller is his—the unmistakable underslung posture of the veteran ball player who has waited for a thousand afternoons and after that has watched the stars.

Putnam's is a sentimental debt. For at the turn of the century when Cy Young was the Carl Hubbell of his day and Fred was a struggling landlord, the illustrious pitcher brought his baseball fellowship to live at the little hotel. There were cow pastures and meadows and a dead tangled wildwood around that part of Huntington avenue then, and Putnam's was a suburban outpost considered to lie in the neck of nowhere. The big lavish palaces of the downtown area were not yet built and the ball players, moderately paid, holed up in board ing homes and hall rooms.

So when Cy Young and Putnam's proprietor and his three sons, Frederick, Theodore, Harry, and a daughter, Cora, lived in Putnam's, they were in the heart of the city. The hotel was a small, one-story building with a porch and a few rooms. It was a place where the ball players could find a quiet work room, a place where they could relax and enjoy the company of the other players. The hotel was a place where the ball players could find a quiet work room, a place where they could relax and enjoy the company of the other players. The hotel was a place where the ball players could find a quiet work room, a place where they could relax and enjoy the company of the other players.

Like Women and Elephants

THUS, IN OLD CY'S ELDER ADVERSITY, Old Fred is repaying his youthful bounty. It isn't a job so much as a companionship and Old Cy is learning the rudiments of being a guest, allotting rooms, greeting new arrivals and sniffing in the kitchen with a good-natured air of detachment. The things that old Fred once did professionally for him are now the same things he is doing amateurishly for old Fred. So does whimsical fortune spin its little thread, intertwining two lives in a single woe.

Putnam's is an old hotel, a relic of the shadow of a bygone building. It caters to family residence. It is unimproved outside and pearly neon signs blink about food and beer. But inside it is trim with fresh paint and bright with laundered linens. No odors of ancient musk pervade its well lit hallways. Older old Fred has seen to that.

But the center of baseball residence has drifted elsewhere. The era of big earnings has taken the teams downtown to the crystal and gilt of pretentious hotels. Inexorable Time has passed Putnam's by. But the little rose-brick hotel and its bookish looking host stick staunchly to its loyalties. Putnam's did not pass by Old Cy Young. Like women and elephants Putnam's never forgets.

'I'll Klayo Louis Again'---Max

Promises Baer Title Shot In Fall

NEW YORK, May 10 (INS)—Looking as though he could step into the ring at the moment and do all right for himself with any heavyweight in the world, Max Schmeling arrived aboard the Bremen on his eighth passage across the ocean in quest of the championship he once held. He announced:

1—That he would knock champion Joe Louis out on June 22 this year, just as he did in 1936.
2—That he would make his first defense of the title against Max Baer in September in this country.

87 FIGHTS

All told, the greatest fighter Germany ever produced was completing his thirty-seventh ocean crossing, but this time he was neither the slightly befuddled young heavyweight who first saw the statue of Liberty a decade ago, nor the grimly determined veteran who listened to the laughter, then went ahead and all but decapitated

Max Baer

Max two years ago. Today he is a confident, eager and quite convincing challenger for the title now held by a man he hit by actual count—with 57 right hand punches to the chin and finally walked away from, leaving him to be scrapped up.

He had two questions to ask through it all, as thousands were fired at him.

"Where is the fight going to be held and what will it draw?" he wanted to know.

He had read that it would be staged at the Yankee Stadium here, but thought maybe that might have been changed—not that it was important. He said he didn't care where they fought.

When told the bout would draw a million dollars, he quickly changed the subject.

"Well, that doesn't matter," he said, making sure first, however, that he hadn't misunderstood that million dollar forecast. "What I want to do is to be the first man to regain the championship."

DETERMINED MAN

Schmeling was visibly impressed by the fact that he figured to be a party to the first bona fide million dollar gate since Jack Dempsey put his gloves on a convenient peg to hang there forever more, and he was interested to know that $100,000 in cash reservations already reposed in the bank. He even asked what bank.

You got the idea talking to him that if singlehandedly, determination and Teutonic stolidness could get a gent where he wanted to go, he would knock Louis out again.

'Ja, I Tink I Stay a While'

Max Schmeling unpacks upon arrival here. The Teuton is scheduled to meet Joe Louis for the world heavyweight championship on June 22.

Irish Boxers Split With U. S.

The United States and Ireland split honors in the international boxing show at the Garden last night, Mike Coffey capturing the 160-pound class and Charles Evenden winning the 147-pound class for the Irish team, with Jerry Zullo of Chelsea taking the honors in the 135-pound class, and Henry King of Worcester the heavyweight class.

The event sponsored by the Irish-American A. C. was a real fighting show with a crowd of 4925.

The gross receipts were $6020.50 and the net $4628.50.

The best contest of the evening was the battle between Ticky Ford of Lawrence, U. S. lightweight champion, and Sean Hynes, Irish champion.

The decision went to Ford but the crowd showed its disapproval by hissing for several minutes.

Another unsatisfactory decision was handed out in the final of the 160 pounds class which went to Mike Coffey over Nick Imbellone.

Imbellone had what ever edge there was and the crowd again hissed the decision.

Jerry Zullo, Chelsea, won the 135-pound class by default, Ticky Ford being unable to fight owing to a stomach ailment.

Charles Evenden, Irish welterweight, also won by default, his opponent in the finals, James Griffin, Lawrence, being in no condition to fight due to an injured arm.

Henry King of Worcester had an easy time winning the heavyweight class, the Worcesterite knocking out Tom Penny of Ireland in a round in the semifinals and Henry Burak of Hyde Park in one round AUSTEN LAKE, America's foremost sports writer and columnist, every day in the Boston American.

Kreevich Scores on Pantry Play!

Hard hitting White Sox outfielder Mike Kreevich is a man of action. All Boston fans will discover when Mike and his mates storm the Fenway Park stronghold of the Red Sox for the present series. He's a double threat on the field or at the plate—and he's worth watching! Apparently Mike is willing to do kitchen duty, if necessary. He says, "If you want to find out my favorite breakfast, pitch me a package of Wheaties!"

Start your day right with this "Breakfast of Champions"—a big bowl of crisp whole wheat WHEATIES flakes, milk or cream, and fruit. For solid nourishment and keen flavor, it's your kind of breakfast!

Wheaties and advertising claims for them are accepted by the Council on Foods of the American Medical Association.

"Breakfast of Champions"

Copyright, 1938, General Mills, Inc. "Wheaties" and "Breakfast of Champions" are registered trade marks of General Mills, Inc.

"Put me down for Wheaties any time," pretty well covers Mike's opinion of those crisp-toasted whole wheat flakes. And when this wallowing White Sox gardener goes kitchen prowling, that big Wheaties package sees plenty of action! Mike counts on getting a taste hit every time he reaches for that "best breakfast food in the land." So he reaches early and often!

Runners Point for Mile Mark

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP)—Before you know it, a bunch of fellows who were running errands when Glenn Cunningham was winning his first race will be clambering all over the champion in the big mile runs.

Glenn is partly responsible. His epic feats encouraged a whole army of high and prep school athletes to try the mile; now, as he enters the twilight of his career, these youngsters, plus a group of born and bred milers, are just getting good.

John Woodruff, Chuck Feske, Blaine Rideout, Lou Zamperini, Leslie MacMitchell and Eddie Morgan are a half dozen already hard on the trail blazed by the master miler.

They have been talking about long John Woodruff, the Olympic 800-meter king, as a miler for two years. His terrific pace in the Penn relays reawakened speculation and a few canny trackmen believe he, and he alone, is capable of that four-minute mile.

UNDER FIGURES
Listen to Gustavus T. Kirby, referee of the Penn relays:
"With a bit of stamina training and specializing, I'm sure he (Woodruff) could do, not merely a four-minute mile, but one appreciably under the dreamed-of figure."

Reneke has stepped to the fore in the last six months. The Wisconsin boy ran 4:08.9 indoors and then chased Cunningham to 4:02.9 at Chicago. He ran 1000 yards in 2:10.7 at the Drake relays, whipping the most consistent of Glenn's pursuers, Archie San Romani.

It may be a little early to ring the bell on Cunningham, but when he does end his career, speculation over new records won't end. In fact, the youngsters indicate it's just beginning.

Kelsey Team Tops In Bowling Tilt

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., May 10 (AP)—Jock White and his Kelsey Resort Bowling Club of New Haven virtually took over the New England duckpin championship tournament here today.

In last night's round the Kelsey five-man combine hit a 17th score, best thus far in the tournament, which will run all week. White and a teammate, Ray Anderson, paired for an 842, which put them on top of the doubles competition, and White took the lead in the singles with 412.

Downs Attendance Hits New High

Officials of Suffolk Downs race track said today the first six days of the current meeting had resulted in a higher attendance and higher pari-mutuel handle than for the corresponding period last year.

Total attendance for the first six days of the 1938 season was 124,500, while the total pari-mutuel handle was $2,568,359.

Rehearsing for Preakness

WITH THE 1938 KENTUCKY DERBY now a matter of history, attention of all turfdom is focussed on the Preakness, which will be run next Saturday at the Pimlico race track, Maryland. Here two eligibles, Nedayr, on the rail, and Lucky Omen, are shown in a tune-up.

GROVE, HUBBELL TOPS

By the Associated Press

It's about time to quit debating the issue and admit, once and for all, that the top pitchers of this major league generation are Robert Moses Grove and Carl Owen Hubbell. . . . The record books have been saying as much for some time, their close followers have been insisting upon it, and their performances to date this spring emphasize the consistency of the class in their two south-paw souplings.

They had to harter Grove's services twice, Baltimore to the Athletics for $105,000 and the A's to Boston for nearly as much again, before passing the price the Cubs paid for Dizzy Dean this spring. . . . But Grove has been around twice as long, won twice as many games, and fanned nearly twice as many opposing batters. . . . He has had only one sore arm and, consequently one bad year in the last ten. . . . In eight out of nine consecutive seasons, Grove won 20 or more games and topped the 30 mark once. . . .

Hubbell, in ten years, has compiled a relatively enviable mark. . . . Like Grove, the screwball ace of the Giants has a best season winning streak of 16 straight, which he extended to 24 in a row over a two-year stretch, 1936-37. . . . He has won 26 or more games for the last five seasons and looks good for that number again. . . . Hubbell lacks Dean's personal "color" but he's all the greater because he never pops off, takes everything in stride, and rarely misses a regular turn.

Cards Again Bid for Mungo

ST. LOUIS, May 10 (AP)—The "Mungo to St. Louis" trade rumors were revived when Branch Rickey, boss of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Manager Burt Grimes of Brooklyn held a long conference.

Rickey admitted he was interested in Van Mungo, the Dodgers' fireball right-hander, and added:

"He is a good pitcher, and I'm interested in good pitchers. We haven't made a deal with the Brooklyn club but if one is completed I will not be a small one."

He said he did not care to answer at this time whether or not he was prepared to make a cash offer for Mungo.

Rickey and Grimes probably were to confer again today.
